8:00am - 12noon

Jay Rifenburg, president of Rifenburg Training & Development, Author and Owner of the "No Excuse!" Training Seminar Series presents, "No Excuse! - Incorporating Core Values, Accountability and Balance into Your Life & Career". If you are sick and tired of people whining, "No Excuse! - Incorporating Core Values, Accountability, and Balance into Your Life and Career" will be a program worth investing in. "No Excuse!" validates the importance for all of us that certain principles and skills still matter when it comes to the success of both our personal and professional lives. "No Excuse!" is built on a solid foundation of core values, self-responsibility, organizational accountability, integrity and purpose. Principles such as self-control, personal respect, forgiveness, passion, and attitude are just a sampling of other ideas that will be presented. Having a greater understanding of the importance of consistency in behavior, decisiveness, and personal honesty will only enhance an individual's productivity and efficiency in the work place. Ultimately this contributes to the overall atmosphere and productivity of the organization. "No Excuse!" will contribute to an individual's ability to lead, manage, sell and most importantly set a positive and professional example for themselves and others. It will establish for each participant a greater level of personal understanding leading to a more satisfying, fulfilling and productive career.

THE RITZ-CARLTON®
HOTEL COMPANY, L.L.C.

2:00 - 4:00pm

Sue Stephenson, Vice President of The Ritz-Carlton Social Responsibility Program, Community Footprints presents "Adding Value Through Social Responsibility and Community Engagement". Learn how to connect social responsibility and community engagement strategies to your business practices. This will build trust with customers, attract and retain employees, and bring value to your business. This program highlights The Ritz-Carlton's commitment to stewardship and sustainability as highlighted in the book, The New Gold Standard, written by Joseph Michelli. For those organizations looking to create and deploy an effective social responsibility strategy, this training program will provide a roadmap. Participants will learn and understand: the rewards, benefits and challenges of developing and deploying a social responsibility strategy; how an effective social responsibility platform engages employees, customers and the community; and how to leverage core competencies in making a positive impact.
